Brooks Back to the Senate

(An Editorial)

If the Democratic bosses in Illinois have not realized by this time that United States Senator C. Wayland Brooks is on his way back to Washington for another term they have a foggy view of the political future and an inattentive finger on the pulse of public opinion in Illinois. Senator Brooks will take the April primary in his stride and all of Illinois will mass behind him in a sweep to the polls in November. The attempt on the part of his opponents to use Brooks' war stand was ill advised for it actually has focused public attention on a wise and courageous course that can draw nothing but public applause and commendation. No one on earth can question the personal patriotism or bravery of C. Wayland Brooks, with his battle scars from World War 1.

He was representing the people of the State of Illinois in his attitude in the United States Senate and he was fighting the battles of the people of his state, all of the people of his state, in his sane and courageous attitude.

If ever in our history the people of America needed a man like Brooks in the United State Senate it is now and in the years of the immediate future. His ability and his courage and his eloquence are of overwhelming importance to the cause of our future welfare, not just in this state but in the nation. The Republican party will nominate him and then the people will elect him.

The War Today!

To Help Your Washing Machine LAST Longer!

Even "old hands" at home laundry, with the most modern equipment, are now remembering ways of using washers that suddenly have become important. Check up on your own laundry method - faithfully observe these six points. Your washing machine will have a better chance of lasting for the "duration"!

- BRING IT INTO A WARM ROOM the night before doing your washing. Never start your washing with a cold machine; it will wear out faster and may blow fuses. (By the way, do you have any spare fuses?)
- DON'T OVERLOAD YOUR WASHER. Too many clothes slow down the action and overwork the motor. Clothes get cleaner when given enough room to agitate properly in the tub.
- WATCH THE WATER LEVEL. Water above the marked level may strain the motor or overflow into the gears.
- ALWAYS LOOSEN WRINGER TENSION. When wringer is not in use, tension should be released to avoid flat spots on rubber rollers.
- IF YOU HAVE A SPINNER, make sure it is seated properly before use, and keep it clean.
- LUBRICATE WHERE INDICATED every six months, but do not over-oil. If your machine runs too slowly or too hot, have it inspected and cleaned by a competent serviceman.

About the Appliances We Advertise Nowadays

The appliances we are now advertising are limited to those we have on hand, or those that are made available without interference with war production. They have all been selected because their normal operation in the home comes at a time of day when our electrical facilities are more than adquate to meet present power requirements for both war production and civilian use.

Furthermore, we believe that their use in most cases will conserve energy and tend to release home labor for helpful wartime activities.

Bill Smith a Candidate

Every once in a while something happens to brighten up this dreay old world. Of course, spring is on the way and that helps a lot, but what we had in mind particularly is that Bill Smith of Waukegan has announced himself as a candidate for representative in the Illinois State Legislature from the eighth senatorial district (Lake, McHenry and Boone Counties).

If you don't know Bill Smith he should perhaps be more definitely identified as William J. Smith, for many years the aggressive and able Waukegan editor, civic leader and important factor in state-wide Republican politics. He has held many positions of trust but never before has he been a candidate for office.

We don't believe a better American lives than voters of the eighth District will not miss this pines. golden opportunity to elect a really honest to goodis above reproach. He is needed in Springfield.

Dirty—and Unpatriotic

The curious American appetite for dirty storles is being fed these days a series of nasty little Items exuding the unmistakable odor of Goebbels.

If you're a man reading this, you've probably heard a couple of them downtown the last few days. They're fully as unfunny as they are clever in their aim at planting termites to gnaw on civilian morale. Ranging from disrespectful references to the White House and its occupants to inanities about shortages and daylight-saving time, these nasties fall largely into the fence-scribbling type of raw smut.

One is printable, however, and maybe it'll give you an idea of the style. It goes like this: "What kind of underwear does Uncle Sam wear? Ask the Japs. They caught him with his pants down." Most of them are as nude of wit as that. A gutter all of a sudden and all at the same time.

They're as untraceable as to true source as any other smutty saying, but they're easy to spot as propaganda mill shavings because they just about cover all familiar Goebbels themes-undermining confidence in government, belittling the military services, underscoring the defeats, stirring dissatisfaction over shortages and sacrifices and Sealed Bids Will Be Relabor-employer disputes.

Small stuff, you say. So is a Jap sniper in a tree top small stuff compared with a company of U. S. Marines. But if the sniper can drop a couple of the Marines, the expenditure becomes worth while in the military sense. The nazi propaganda technique wouldn't overlook sniping at morale with this type of easily repeated dirt. The propagandists overlook sniping at morale with this type of easily repeated dirt. The propagandists overlook practically nothing.

The rush of war weddings apparently may bring drastic measures in Washington. There the to reject any and all bids is reand paper.

Ordnance Regiments To Be Recruited From Stymied Auto Business

Denver, April 2-(AP)-Out of work auto salesmen, idle motor mechanics and war stymied car dealers are going to get a chance to join the army and work shoulder-to-shoulder at the job they know best-repair and maintenance of motorized equipment. At the request of the army ordnance department, the National Auto Dealers' Association is organizing two ordnance regiments to be composed mainly of auto industry workers whose jobs vanished when the industry quit making family sedans and began turning out battlewagons.

The 301st ordnance regiment will be recruited in the Nada's western region, one battalion each from the Chicago, San Francisco talion from the region at large. Herman R. Goodin, Washington, D. C., vice president of the NADA. explained to Rocky Mountain dealers that "this is strictly army business". To join, a man must first enlist in the army.

Mediator Named in Dispute Over Aid to Dependent Children

Springfield, Ill., April 2-(AP) Governor Green today named George Arthur, Chicago attorney, as mediator in a dispute between county and state officials over administration of the aid to dependent children's program.

Arthur was designated by the governor to draft proposed changes in merit system rules after State Senator Charles W. Baker (R.-Davis Junction) declared that 'county and township officials are opposed to ADC because persons with years of experience in local relief work are barred from holding supervisory positions because they do not have college degrees".

Baker, Arthur, State Senator Nicholas L. Hubbard (D.-Mt. Pulaski), President Robert L. Hunter of the state Civil Service Commission and Public Assistance Superintendent Fletcher C. Kettle conferred with the governor for two hours yesterday afternoon.

Hunter, who supervised examinations for county welfare department superintendents and other officials to administer the ADC program, said that Arthur would draft recommendations for revised rules and that the plan would be presented to Federal social security board officials.

Toppings 1/2 cup cream, whip-1-3 cup tart mayonnaise 2 tablespoons lemon juice

1 to 2 tablespoons raspberry or 1 cup orange sections 1/2 cup Maraschino cherries

(*) Original recipe called for 1/2 cup sugar, however 1-3 cup is ample, with the addition of this sweet topping.

Mix the sugar, flour and salt Gradually stir in the scalded milk. Cook in the top of a double boiler until the mixture has thickened, Cover and cook 10 minutes longer. Beat the eggs slightly; stir ture. Whip the cream and fold in a little of the hot mixture; add to the contents of the double botler; stir exactly 1 minute. Remove | Cut in slices and serve on greens. from heat; add butter and vanilla. Serves 6.

Cool the mixture slightly. Pour into the baked pie shell. Chill. Just before serving, cover with this topping:

Whip 1/2 cup heavy cream and fold in 1 to 2 teaspoons raspberry or strawberry jam. Or try 1 tablespoon grape jelly. Serves 6.

Caramel Syrup One easy way to 'stretch" sugar is to prepare a supply of syrup for flavoring and sweetening desserts and milk shakes. Melt 1 cup sugar in heavy, dry fry pan over low heat. When light brown, remove from heat, add 1/2 cup boiling water, stir well and boil 5 to 10 minutes or until wife. caramel is dissolved. Cool, store in covered jar in cool place. Salad for Dessert

4-H Boys Forming Home Economics Clubs for Summer

Because 4-H club boys in five Illinois counties endorsed home economics clubs for themselves as attends the state teacher's college being a lot of fun and thoroughly at DeKalb, spent the week end worth while, similar clubs will be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. this summer, it is announced by Clinton Shore. 4-H club specialists, University of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mintum and Illinois College of Agriculture.

Witt, LaSalle and Livingston Kness at Morrison. counties already have such clubs in which they have studied everything from carving a chicken to choosing a good-looking suit of clothes. Furthermore they have made muffins and griddle cakes, broiled steaks and prepared other foods. Result of last year's enterprise is that at least one or more home economics clubs for boys will be sponsored by the majority of Illinois counties this summer. There will be no set requirements. That's one thing the boys asked club specialists. Their selection of studies, setting up of requirements and keeping of records will be self-imposed.

Subjects Studied

Macoupin county's pioneer group of nine members started out by studying the requirements of a balanced diet. At subsequent meetings, they learned about table service and etiquette, how to be a good host, how to carve various meats and ways to test the quality of fibers and cloth. Interested in making the most of their personal appearance, they gave attention to color combinations and new fall styles, and then visited a local cleaner to gain facts about caring for their clothes.

LaSalle county's club had lessons on choosing becoming colors, what a boy should know about the care of his room, table etiquette, getting the most for the clothing dollar and taking care of clothes. An exhibit, at the boys' 4-H club show in Marseilles in August, illustrated how a boy could plan and make convenient storage space for his room.

"The outstanding thing about this boys' club has been their sincerity from the very first,' commented Miss Cecile Malsbury LaSalle county home adviser. "Not only do they wish to continue but other boys wish to form similar clubs."

St. Clair county boys went allout for good food and plenty of it during their summer's home economics activities. Among other things they learned how to plan a day's meal for a specific time of the year, how to cook meat two different ways, how to make salads, corn bread and biscuits. Like the other fellows, they also were concerned about table manners and etiquette.

DeWitt county's group fancied the outdoor version of home economics, so emphasized making of meals to fit the occasion. On some occasions each boy prepared food at home and brought it to camp feast; on others they cooked food on the spot. Livingston county specialized in lessons on foods, health and clothing. The boys who seemed the most interested either had no sisters or else had only younger sisters who could not help them with their particular problem.

Keep Worms from Lambs by Treating All Ewes and Bucks

Because more wool, lamb and mutton are needed in Illinois to meet war goals, sheepmen say that worm-infested bucks and ewes should be treated with phenothiazine to prevent the infestation from spreading to the spring lamb crop.

Treatment is recommended before the flock is turned on new pastures, since a wet fall in many sections of Illinois favored development of internal parasites, according to W. G. Kammlade, in charge of sheep husbandry at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Phenothiazine is recommended in preference to copper sulphate, under most conditions, because it is usually more effective in ridding sheep of both stomach worms and worms that live in the intestines. However, the copper sulphate and nicotine sulphate combination is much cheaper. It is effective against stomach worms, and also often against tapeworms. Phenothiazine is not effective against tapeworms.

It is part of good sheep management to treat the breeding flock in winter and again in the spring before the use of new pastures begins, Kammlade said. While it is important that the phenothiazine or other treatment be given during winter, ewes soon to lamb must not be injured by rough handling. About one ounce, 25 grams, administered either in capsule form as a drench, or mixed in the ground feed, is the usual dose for adult sheep. Lambs weighing approximately 60 pounds require only about 15 grams. It is recommended that phenothiazine be administered under the supervision of a veterinarian. Although phenothiazine has been konwn to be toxic to oversensitive horses, it is perfectly safe when given to sheep in the doses recommended, Following treatment, however, the urine of sheep turns red on exposure to air. To avoid staining wool and
